Campernight - Park, sleep, enjoy & repeat

Campernight is the intersection of technology and vanlife. It's a user-friendly app that allows you to find the best places to park with your campervan or motorhome. The great community of users keeps adding new places every day and together we are making it easier to live the vanlife.

Campernight Features

The simplest parking map app

Campernight allows users to find incredible places to park and sleep with their campervans. With a simple and fluid UI it's really easy to find and compare places around a location.

Powered by the community

All the content that appears in the app is provided by its users. In just a few taps users can add a place with images and a description. Regular checks are performed to remove any content that does not meet high quality standards. On top of that, users can leave ratings on the places they visited to acknowledge that a place is indeed great or not.

Plan the next road trip

Users can create routes, which are lists of places to plan a trip or the holidays. Multiple routes can be created and adding places to them is just one tap away. Routes also give an overview of the total distance and time driving on the road.

From Barcelona to the world

Users can add information and review places in their native language. The app has built-in translation buttons to make it super easy to understand each other.

Wikiloc direct link

Users can open different navigation apps like Google Maps or Waze to get directions to a place. Once they get there, the app also has an integration with Wikiloc to make it easy to find great outdoor activities to do the next day.

All the tools you need

The app has built in tools that help users park with the correct leveling and orientation towards the sun to enjoy the most of their trips. Users can also save places to favorites or see the weather forecast for a given place to help them plan better.

About the developer

Hi, I'm Pau, the developer of Campernight and campervan enthusiast.

The idea of this app started some years ago when I first rented a van in the Canary Islands. It was a 1984 WV California and I fell in love instantly with the van life. Since then, I've traveled a lot with camper vans and tried many apps to find places to spend the night.

Sadly, I wasn't happy with the user experience they were bringing, something I deeply care about. That's the reason I started Campernight. From that starting point, I believe in building an app that can help thousands of happy campers live the life they want with the help of technology to reconnect with nature and be outdoors.

This is a project I'm working on as an indie developer besides my regular developer job.
